DEAR MEMBERS,

The start of a new year offers a chance to review the prior years’ activities and for us to provide you, our committed supporters, with a brief look at all we accomplished together. The Annual Report summarizes the previous fiscal year (July 1, 2019 – June 30, 2020) and highlights the impact we made, as well as the thousands of members and supporters who made it possible.

Last year saw many highlights, including over 1,000 artworks added to the Crocker’s collection, nearly 900 programs produced for students and teachers, and a dynamic slate of exhibitions, including Pueblo Dynasties: Master Potters from Matriarchs to Contemporaries, When I Remember I See Red: American Indian Art and Activism in California, Granville Redmond: The Eloquent Palette, and American Expressions / African Roots: Akinsanya Kambon’s Ceramic Sculpture.

We also faced many challenges, including a mandated closure starting in March 2020. However, we found that most challenges also brought opportunity. With the support of members, donors, docents, and volunteers, we were able to develop new ways to transform lives through the power of art. Together, we brought art and arts education out of the Museum and into the homes and hands of the general public, including those who needed it most. We will continue to offer many of those virtual and hands-on experiences in the months ahead.

Your support makes this possible, and for that I thank you. Through your generosity, the Crocker can bring people together and connect them in unexpected ways with art, ideas, each other, and the world around them.

With gratitude,

Chelsea Larson
Director of Development
Beyond the Numbers

1,082 works of art were acquired including 293 pieces by Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) and 106 by women.

Eight exhibitions opened, of which four featured artists of color, artists who identify as having a disability, and artists from Indigenous populations.

The Student and Community Exhibition space hosted six shows, including The Journey of Hope, which portrayed real-life stories of living with mental health challenges.

The exhibition When I Remember I See Red: American Indian Art and Activism in California was accompanied by a docent colloquium, an open poetry night, a symposium featuring 20 Native American artists and activists, and a free family festival with nearly 2,000 attendees.

Artist Akinsanya Kambon held a lecture to discuss his work and his exhibition American Expressions/African Roots: Akinsanya Kambon’s Ceramic Sculpture.

Luis Genaro Garcia, Risky patriotism, 2016. Acrylic on vintage newspaper collage, 20 x 24 in. From the California State University, Sacramento College of Arts and Letters Faculty Exhibition.
30,105 students, teachers, and parents served through 867 programs, activities, and services before the Museum closed to the public, and 3,867 were served virtually through 112 activities between March and June 2020.

Designed in partnership with local artists and distributed by essential service workers, Color Us Hopeful: Coloring Book aimed to provide inspiration to community members who may be feeling especially isolated, unsettled, and disconnected.

2,780 coloring books were distributed for free at 19 community sites.

During the Museum’s closure from March – June, a total of 134 programs and activities served 4,232 participants, including exclusive virtual talks for our Director’s Circle members.

Annual Donors

It is with sincere gratitude that we recognize the following donors whose support received between July 1, 2019 – June 30, 2020, allows the Crocker Art Museum to bring people together and connect them in unexpected ways with art, ideas, each other, and the world around them.
