

Art Ark Program

The Art Ark, the Crocker Art Museum’s mobile art education center, has been on the road since 1980, serving more than 475,000 students in grades K-8, teachers, parents, and community members. The program is designed to enhance art education being taught in schools, and to provide instruction for schools and school districts that have reduced their art education programs.

American Narratives is an interactive exhibition that invites students to study the lives and art of North American artists. Students will build visual literacy skills as they explore how art can tell the stories of the diverse people who call this country home.
